

Warning

While this game should scale automatically to the comfort level of any group, it can also facilitate the wildest parties you can imagine (or so we hear).

Children should not play without age-appropriate supervision. Please refrain from any dares which are illegal, dangerous, or relationship-damaging.

This game can be printed for free from DareToConsent.com

Hundreds of hours went into making and testing this game. We want as many people as possible to play it!

If you print this game, we only ask that you please print extra copies to give away.

You'll add bigger dares to the menu as the game progresses. How far will your group go?

Playing Your Turn

- Choose any dare on the menu
- Ask everyone to privately pass a consent card for the dare, or ask a subset ("Only the gentlemen")
- Complete the dare with a player who consented, or complete a solo version of the dare, or pass
- +1 point for both who do a dare
- +1 extra point for both if they also do the extra challenge
- If you chose the biggest dare, write a bigger dare and extra challenge on the Dare Menu
- Others can give ideas or object
- If you can't agree on a bigger dare, the menu is complete
- First player to 20 points wins!

This game is dedicated to:

- The love of my life, who always supported this idea. May our adventures never end
- Our dear friend, who continued to host consent-themed events while terminally ill, and died doing what he loved. Who can count the lives you improved?
- The many volunteers and teachers who labor tirelessly to educate people about consent and free them from destructive modes of thinking and relating
- The creators of another consent-themed game, who quit a steady paycheck to devote themselves to this cause until the cruellest tragedy intervened. I hope I can carry your torch
