Setup

- Get a full-sized blank paper
- Write “Dare Menu” at the top
- Write player names on the back, with space to tally points
- Read the theme names aloud, then pass theme cards around, discarding a less fun theme face down until only one is left
- Write the starting dares and extra challenges from the theme card at the top of the Dare Menu
- Spin a bottle to choose player 1
- All players get 3 consent cards
- Play proceeds clockwise
- Remember: no illegal, age-inappropriate, dangerous, or relationship-damaging dares

Warning

While this game should scale automatically to the comfort level of any group, it can also facilitate the wildest parties you can imagine (or so we hear).

Children should not play without age-appropriate supervision.

Playing Your Turn

- Choose any dare on the menu
- Ask everyone to privately pass a consent card for the dare, or ask a subset ("Only the gentlemen")
- Complete the dare with a player who consented, or complete a solo version of the dare, or pass
- +1 point for both who do a dare
- +1 extra point for both if they also do the extra challenge
- If you chose the biggest dare, propose a bigger dare and extra challenge for the Dare Menu
- Others can give ideas or object
- If you can't agree on a bigger dare, the menu is complete
- First player to 20 points wins! ↗
